Contributed by: ZABALA Innovation Consulting

The winner will be announced in Brussels, Belgium, on the 21st of November

On the 21st of November the final of the .eu Web Awards will take place, a distinction to laureate those European projects with the best web design, in which REZBUILD is one of the finalists. The award was launched in 2014 by EURid and has five different categories: Leaders, Rising Stars, Laurels, The House of .EU and Better World.

In this case, the REZBUILD Project website is competing for the award in the category "Better World", a category for those websites that represent green initiatives and environmentally friendly organisations. After the popular nomination, a jury of experts will have to decide with their votes which they consider is the best one.

The winners will receive a trophy and certificate, a personalized video produced by EURid for promotional purposes, Billboard advertising in Brussels Airport, and three different icon formats for the website and social media accounts.

About the website

The REZBUILD website, which was designed following the most innovative and visual tendencies, is the Media Hub of the project and a meeting place for stakeholders, the media and all those interested in it. It was planned to respond to all communication and dissemination needs of the project with a full responsive design.

One of the most outstanding features of the website are the sections "Public Participation" and "Education and Training". These are meeting points to inform all interested people and promote the interaction and exchange of information between stakeholders.

About the project

The REZBUILD Project is a European initiative funded by the European Commission's Horizon 2020 programme to define an innovative and collaborative refurbishment ecosystem for transforming RE assets into Near Zero Energy Building (NZEB) headed by OVERDI.
